MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRS

Hon. Patricia M. Blevins
State Senate
Chair

Hon. Chandlee Johnson Kuhn
Chief Judge, Family Court
Vice Chair

We are happy to present the 2007 Annual Report of the Domestic Violence Coordinating Council (DVCC). We thank our Council members and staff for their service and welcome our new members; the Honorable Joseph R. Biden, III, Delaware Attorney General, and Patricia P. Tedford, Executive Director, ContactLifeline, Inc.

The past year was a busy and productive one as the DVCC began work on the subject of Domestic Violence and Youth with a year-long focus on Teen Dating Violence. In January, we coordinated a Statewide training for Domestic Violence Hotline Workers on Teen Dating Violence. A teen centered social marketing campaign was developed in collaboration with students of Milford High School Communications Technology Department. The students used their research to design informational posters and brochures for distribution during February, Teen Dating Violence Awareness and Prevention Month. Their materials were used to create “Toolkits” for thirty-three high school wellness centers and their poster design appeared on 30 DART bus taillight ads throughout the month of February.

In March, the DVCC introduced legislation to provide Protection From Abuse (PFA) orders for relationships not previously covered by our domestic violence statute, such as dating relationships and same sex relationships. Prior to the passage of this important legislation, Delaware was one of only six states that did not provide protection for individuals in dating and same sex relationships. Senate Bill 57 passed and was signed into law June 20, 2007, thanks to the support of our many colleagues in the domestic violence community.

Another important piece of legislation in 2007 to protect victims of domestic violence was Senate Bill 111. This Bill created the crime of criminal contempt of a PFA order making the violation of a PFA order a felony in certain circumstances.

In the upcoming year, the Coordinating Council will continue to focus on the subject of Domestic Violence and Youth, looking specifically at the issue of child witnessing. We will continue to collaborate with law enforcement, government leaders, domestic violence advocates, and the community-at-large to improve Delaware’s response to domestic violence.

Thank you for your support. ■

On June 20, 2007, Governor Ruth Ann Minner signed, Senate Bill 57, which amends the definition of parties protected under the State's domestic violence statute to include dating relationships and same sex relationships. This important expansion of the Protection From Abuse Statute would not have been possible without the support of the Domestic Violence Coordinating Council's many partners, among them the Delaware Coalition Against Domestic Violence and the Domestic Violence Task Force.

The Coalition is a statewide non-profit organization, founded in 1994 by Child, Inc., People's Place II and the Project for Domestic Violence Reform. The Coalition serves as an educational and informational resource to their members and the community, and advocates for domestic violence concerns in Delaware. The Coalition provides a strong voice for domestic violence victims and their children and is an important partner in the Coordinating Council's legislative efforts.

The Domestic Violence Task Force, another valued partner, holds the distinction of being the oldest statewide coordinated effort to combat domestic violence in our state. The Task Force started meeting in the early 1980's to support and strengthen the community efforts to end domestic violence. The Task Force members brought attention to problems within the system and highlighted victim needs. Task Force members successfully advocated for Warrantless Arrests in domestic violence cases, ending the requirement of domestic violence victims, to take it upon themselves to go to court to press charges.

For nearly twenty-five years the Domestic Violence Task Force has provided a forum for the members of the DV community, evolving into a strong networking group that participates in policy development, and serves as a mobilizing force for change in the domestic violence community.

Thank you to the Coalition, the Task Force and all the agencies and individuals who work to end domestic violence in Delaware.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE STATISTICS

In calendar year 2006, as reported by the State Bureau of Identification, the total number of domestic violence incidents in Delaware was 28,478 (combined criminal and non-criminal) . That is a 3.3% increase over 2005 reported incidents, but a 5.9% increase over the number reported in 1998.

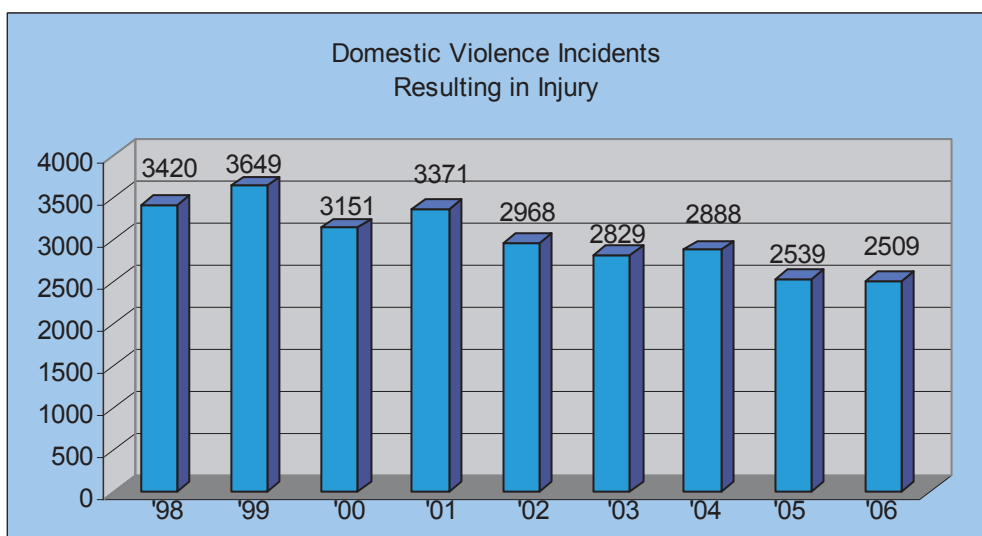

NOTE: Delaware has nine years of domestic violence statistics (1998 - 2006). A review of the statistics published by the State Bureau of Identification for calendar years 1998 through 2006 reveals some interesting information and trends.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE STATISTICS

In calendar year 2006, the total number of domestic violence criminal incidents was 16,310. The total for 2006 reflects an increase of 279 incidents from the 16,031 reported in 2005.

In 2006, out of the 16,310 criminal incidents, 15% resulted in injury.

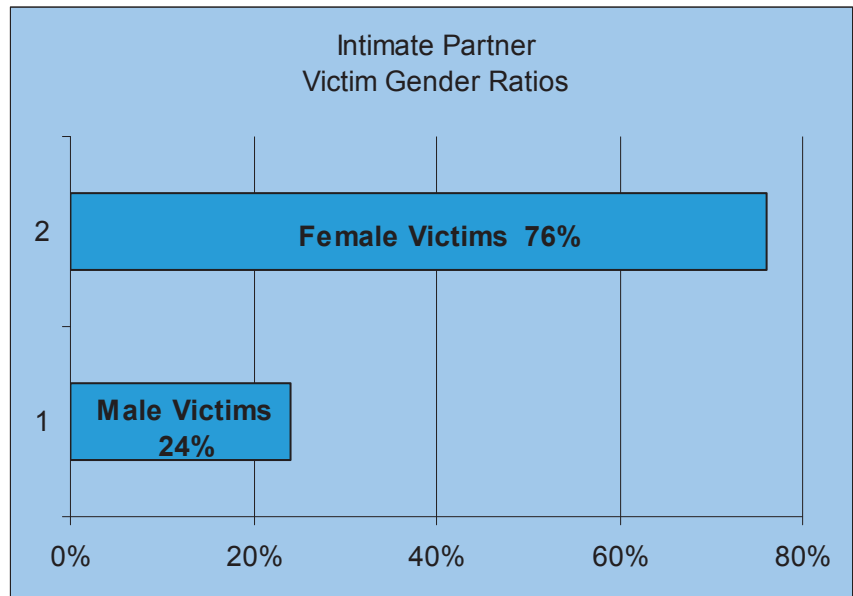

INTIMATE PARTNER STATISTICS

Intimate partner cases include current and former spouses and current and former dating couples. Intimate partners may be of the same gender. In calendar year 2006, as reported by the State Bureau of Identification, the total number of criminal domestic violence incidents involving "intimate partners" was 7,982. This number represents 49% of the total criminal domestic violence incidents.

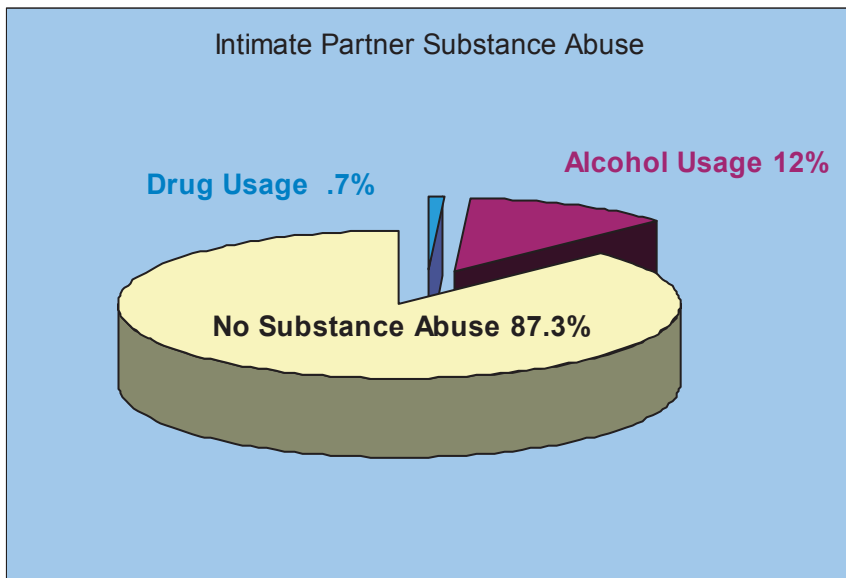

The ratios of reported victims of domestic violence incidents in the calendar year 2006 were 6,105 (76%) female and 1,910 (24%) male.

INTIMATE PARTNER STATISTICS

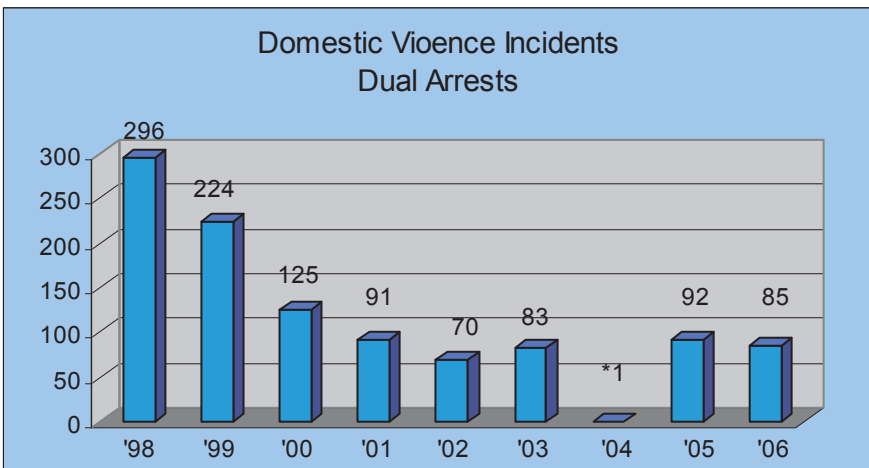

In 2006, there were 7,982 intimate partner domestic abuse incidents reported. Of those incidents, less than 13% were reported to have involved drugs or alcohol.

These statistics were obtained from Delaware Criminal Justice Information System (DELJIS).*

In 2006, there were 85 reported dual arrests. In the past five years, the average is 66. This is a vast improvement since 1998, when there were 296 dual arrests.

2004 data for this category was unavailable.*

Dual arrest typically signifies a failure to identify the primary aggressor and may hold the victim accountable for the abuse.

PROTECTION FROM ABUSE STATISTICS

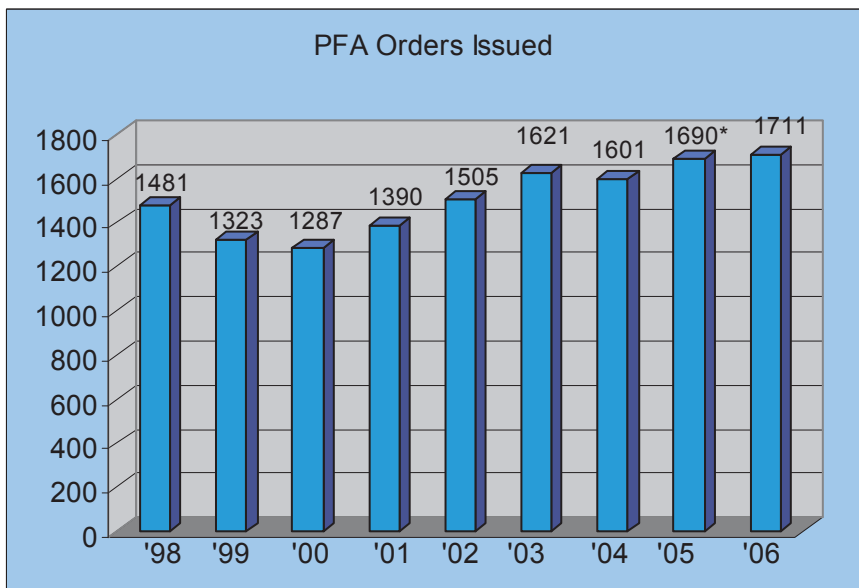

Family Court processed 3,033 Protection From Abuse Petitions (PFA), Statewide in 2006.

Number reflects corrected PFA Petitions for 2005.*

In 2006, there were 1,711 Final Protection From Abuse Orders issued Statewide. Protection Orders issued may provide the following relief for victims: no contact with the Petitioner, exclusive use of the home or possessions, temporary custody, child support or support for the Petitioner, payment of expenses, surrender of firearms, counseling, and other relief that may help to prevent future violence.

Number reflects corrected Final PFA Orders for 2005.*

PROTECTION FROM ABUSE STATISTICS

Of the 3,033 petitions processed, 1,711 PFA Orders were issued. The remaining petitions were dismissed. A Protection From Abuse petition dismissal can occur one of three ways -

- The petitioner fails to appear for the hearing,
- Petitioner voluntarily withdraws the petition before the hearing,
- Or, abuse was not found by a preponderance of evidence following a hearing.

What is an Order of Protection From Abuse?

An Order of Protection From Abuse is an order of Family Court ordering someone to stop abusing another person, and may include other relief, such as ordering the abuser to stay away from the person being abused. Abuse is defined as any threatening or harmful conduct including serious emotional harm.

Who can file for Protection From Abuse?

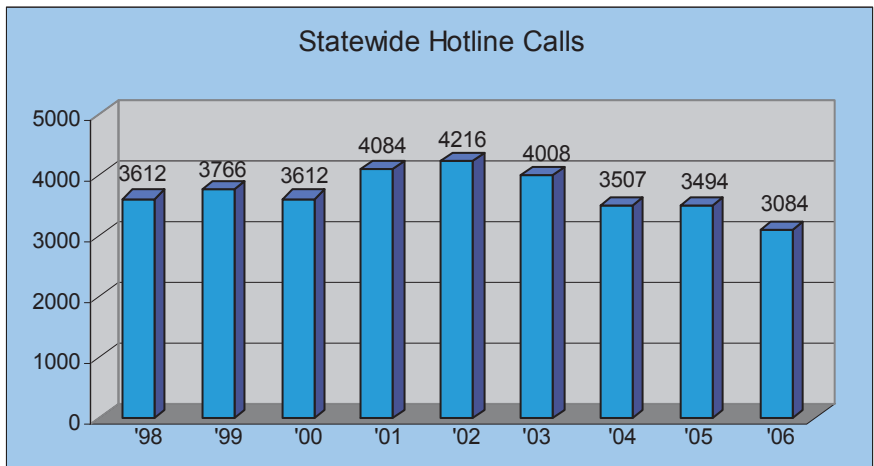

Spouses, ex-spouses, family members, persons of the opposite sex who lived together when the abuse occurred, and unmarried persons who have a child/children in common may file for an Order of Protection From Abuse. Also, the Division of Child Protective Services acting in the interest of a minor child may file a petition alleging domestic violence; or the Division of Adult Protective Services acting in the interest of an infirm adult may file a petition alleging domestic violence.

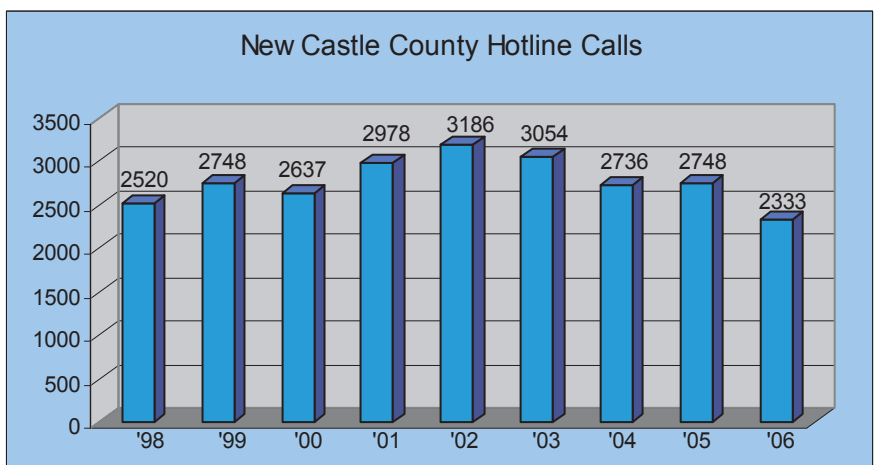

On June 20, 2007, Governor Ruth Ann Minner signed into law SB 57 amending the definition of parties considered protected under the State's domestic violence statute. The change reflects substantive relationships not previously included under the law, such as dating relationships and same sex relationships.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE HOTLINE STATISTICS

In 2006, there were 3,084 calls received by domestic violence hotlines, Statewide. The average number of hotline calls received since 1998 is 3,709.

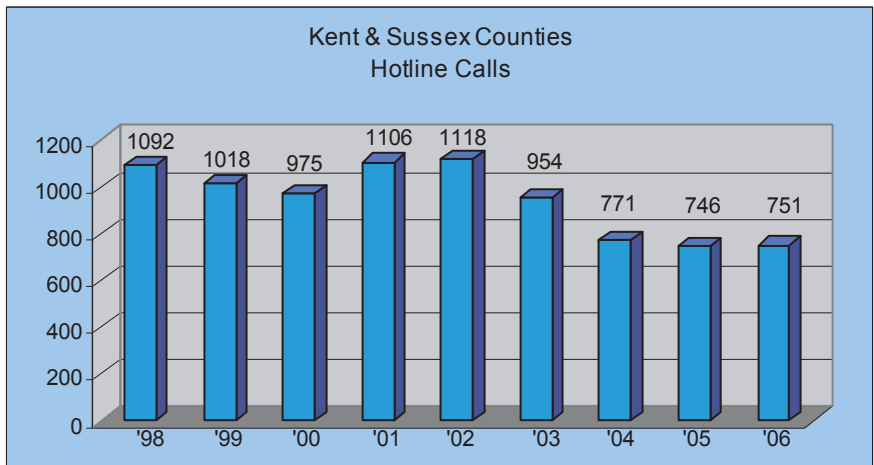

In 2006, there were 2,333 calls to the domestic violence hotline in New Castle County. This is a decrease of 415 calls from year 2005.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE HOTLINE STATISTICS

In 2006, there was a total of 751 calls to domestic violence hotlines in Kent and Sussex Counties. This is an increase of 5 calls since year 2005.

Both men and women may be victims of domestic violence. Hotline personnel are available 24 hours a day to answer hotline calls. For those persons seeking assistance, the Delaware hotline numbers are:

SUBCOMMITTEES

Fatal Incident Review Team

Staff: Laura M. Giles

A significant part of the Domestic Violence Coordinating Council's work is to track domestic violence fatalities and review the circumstances of those cases. The Domestic Violence Fatal Incidents Review Act statute, signed into law in June 1996, established a Fatal Incident Review Team to investigate and review the facts of all domestic violence related fatalities, both homicides and suicides that occur in Delaware. To avoid duplication of efforts, the Fatal Incident Review Team and the Child Death, Near Death, Stillbirth Commission held its first "Joint Review" in February 2007. Members of both Review Teams will share information when the death of child is a result of domestic violence.

The ultimate purpose for reviewing domestic violence fatalities is to prevent such deaths in the future. By conducting system audits of State agencies and private organizations that had contact with the deceased victim and or the alleged perpetrator, the system's response to domestic violence may be improved. Steps may be taken to prevent future deaths and injuries by making changes to existing policies and practices and by identifying gaps in services and developing programs to fill those gaps.

Confidentiality is maintained throughout the review process and is required by statute. The records of all reviews are confidential and are exempt from the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act in Title 29 of the Delaware Code. Reports published by the review team include only aggregate data and do not identify specific cases.

Although the domestic violence fatality reviews are retrospective in nature, their purpose is prospective. The reviews focus on identifying trends and obstacles in service delivery, assessing the adequacy of agency interventions and, most importantly, developing recommendations for policies and practices aimed at reducing domestic violence deaths in Delaware.

Team members review between ten and twelve cases each year. The review team members are established by statute, and range from Chief Judge to victim advocate. Although the review team members represent different agencies and interests, they focus on the common goal of developing recommendations to reduce domestic violence in Delaware and prevent future deaths. To view the most recent copy of the Delaware Fatal Incident Review Team Annual Report, log onto the DVCC website at www.dvcc.delaware.gov and click on Reports.

2006 TRAINING CALENDAR

In 2006, a total of 708 persons were trained by the DVCC. 1200 persons were provided safety plans and resource cards at statewide conferences, workshops, and trainings (Resource Sharing). Training was delivered in a variety of methods, including designing and delivering on-site training for healthcare and other professionals, surveying potential participants, conducting conferences and trainings for law enforcement, probation and parole officers, schools, and members of the clergy.
